Your Book and More— Anywhere— With Classzone!

Let's Get Started!

Three different kinds of online materials are offered on Classzone. The two kinds of online materials are:

Free Access: Access to correlating book specific resources that do not require registration or an order.

- Accesses to these online materials are publicly available and do not require a username/password (authentication) or license (authorization). Much of the content inside ClassZone is Free Access.

Examples: ClassZone's learning centers including animations, quizzes, and links.

Registration Access: Access to correlating book specific teacher resources that do not require an order.

- Access to these online materials is publicly available, but requires a username/password (authentication). Registration is required either to verify that a user is a teacher (by entering a code from the Teacher's Edition) or because the online material has the ability to save the user's work.

Examples: ActivityMaker, Teacher Toolkit.

Premium Activation and Registration: Access to the Online Student Book and Essay Smart

- Activation codes are e-mailed directly to the designated account(s) selected at the time of purchase. If you think there has been a problem with your order, please contact Customer Service.
- The activation code is for both teacher and student use and can be used over and over until the quantity associated with the order has been used. For example, a teacher could write the activation code on the board for her students or email it to them. We do not recommend posting the activation code on a public site.
- Only student registrations count toward the order quantity tally.
- The activation code only needs to be used the first time a student or teacher tries to access the Online Book. After creating a username and password at initial activation, you can simply sign in with their username when prompted.
- There is no need for rostering or setting up classes. You can simply pass out the code for the appropriate online textbook to your students.
